Factor H is a member of the regulators of complement activation family and is a complement control protein. It is a large (155 kilodaltons), soluble glycoprotein that circulates in human plasma (at typical concentrations of 200–300 micrograms per milliliter). Its principal function is to regulate the alternative pathway of the complement system, ensuring that the complement system is directed ...

Response factor, usually in chromatography and spectroscopy, is the ratio between a signal produced by an analyte, and the quantity of analyte which produces the signal. Ideally, and for easy computation, this ratio is unity (one). In real-world scenarios, this is often not the case. Expression. The response factor can be expressed on a molar, volume or mass basis.

As a result of this, the production of collagenase, gelatinase and stromelysin-1 is stimulated leading to the deterioration of collagen, elastin and other components of the dermal extracellular matrix. AP-1 also inhibits transforming growth factor- $\beta^2$  (TGF- $\beta^2$ ) which is a major regulator for the production of procollagen type I in human skin. The AP-1 mediated MMP expression also leads to ...
